

SHELLEY BROWN

As a Human Resources expert, Shelley Brown has an eye for what professionals need.

More than just an HR Consulting company, Shelley has expanded services to include professional development, with programs like a Manager Boot Camp and Emotional Intelligence training. But her latest passion is her POWER Women's Weekend Retreats.

Designed to help women take their careers to the next level by rediscovering their passion and skills, the two-day getaways feature interactive workshops with three experts plus yoga and wine tours. They start with up to 15 strangers who end as powerhouses.

"It's about increasing your self-awareness, understanding others, finding your passions and accelerating your skills."

"No matter where you are in your career, let's talk about you. What's the vision you have for yourself? Let's work backwards from that."

Designed for women of any age looking for practical takeaways, Shelley says the retreats change outlooks.

"We want women to stop hoping and waiting – and to start taking charge of their own destiny."
