Axxel announces the acquisition of Alliance HR+, an advisory firm specialized in the field of human resources management and talent acquisition.

Eric Haggar, President of Axxel said “This acquisition enables our HR group to offer a new suite of services to our clientele. H  l  ne M  tras has built a very reputable business and we are very excited to welcome her and Alliance HR+ to our group. This acquisition complements Axxel / Bromelin HR Consulting and is part of our strategy to build a national HR consulting group that will offer unparalleled service and expertise to our clients.

Helene M  tras said:

“In March 2014, Alliance HR was founded to offer its clients and candidates a professional service based on respect, fairness and integrity. We are delighted by this transaction with AXXEL which, in addition to sharing our vision, meets our criteria of excellence and enriches HR services with their turnkey option that will benefit our current and future customers. It goes without saying that this great adventure was only possible thanks to our precious employees who, over the years have been able to make our company shine. Thank you to all those who have contributed to this success. »
